

QR codes look boring. That is why people miss the useful part.

small square, real job

The point is not the square.
The point is the handoff from offline attention to online action.

Printed marketing has a click problem.

Typing URLs from paper is not a growth loop.

A QR code is a bridge. Not the whole campaign.

Static QR codes are great when the information is stable.

free vCard QR

Perfect for contact details that do not need a dashboard.
Fast. Simple. Browser-based.

Dynamic QR codes help when the destination may change.

The real value is what happens after the scan.

A scan is not the conversion. It is the measurable handoff.

Static when simple is enough. Dynamic when change is likely.
